

ABSTRACT

Disclosed are systems and methods to identify text-like pixels from an image by providing an image and classifying line segments of pixels within the image by edge-bounded averaging.

20110415003-1